DANE DESIGN AUSTRALIA

AN INTRODUCTION TO DDA

Building design for the way you live

01

Dane Design Australia

A design practice with more than three decades of experience.

Thank you for considering DDA for your project.

Established in 1995 by Dane Richardson, DDA is a building design practice based in Dunsborough, Western Australia. We create individual homes shaped by their clients, their setting and the opportunities of each site.

While our home is in the South West, our design process is not defined by geography. We can work with clients, consultants and project teams wherever a project takes us.

Our process is collaborative. We work with you to understand what matters, explore the possibilities and develop a design that responds to you and your site.

02

A design response to you

Each project begins with its people, its site and its possibilities.

HOW YOU LIVE

Your daily routines, the spaces you enjoy and the things you want your home to make possible shape the brief.

THE CHARACTER OF THE SITE

Light, outlook and privacy inform the design, alongside its relationship to the landscape.

A CLEAR VIEW OF THE DESIGN

Drawings and 3D modelling help you understand the emerging design and take part in the decisions.

03

Working together

From early ideas to construction support, we tailor our role to your project.

Design + development

We develop the brief and site response, explore the concept in drawings and 3D, and refine the design with you.

Approvals + documentation

We coordinate the agreed approvals and specialist advice, then prepare the information needed for pricing and construction.

Construction support

We respond to design queries and provide the agreed support during construction, including site observation and contract administration where appointed.

Your next conversation

Tell us about your site, priorities, budget and timing. We can then prepare a tailored Architectural Design Proposal and Design Services Agreement for you to review.
